

VANAMATI And Maharashtra National Law University (MNLU)

Sign MoU For

Training Probationers of Combined Probationary Training Programme (CPTP)

VANAMATI institutes are conducting Combined Probationary Training Programmes for the newly selected Group A and Group B candidates respectively by Maharashtra Public Service Commission (MPSC) for Maharashtra State Civil Services. This Combined Probationary Training Programme (CPTP) is affiliated to Mumbai University since year 2017 and is offered to probationers as M.A. (Development Administration) course.

Hon'ble Director Shri. Ravindra Thakre, IAS, VANAMATI and MNLU Vice Chansller Hon'ble Prof. Vijender Kumar signing the MoU

March 21 ■ 2019

CityLine

MNLU, Vanamati sign MoU for training probationers

■ MNLU to impart quality education and conducting exam for the probationers

■ Staff Reporter

MAHARASHTRA National Law University, Nagpur has added another feather in its cap by signing a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with VANAMATI (Vasantao Naik State Agricultural Extension Management Training Institute), Nagpur, an apex training institute of Department of Agriculture, Government of Maharashtra. VANAMATI is responsible for organising training for MPSC Probationers, besides organising various other training programme with an aim to empower and enhance the income of farmers of Maharashtra. MPSC Probationers shall be awarded, MA in Public Administration by Mumbai University on completion of two years training programme. VANAMATI wanted to rope in a specialized agency like MNLU, Nagpur for imparting quality education and conducting examination for the probationers. This MoU has been signed in furtherance of the same objective.

VANAMATI Director Ravindra Thakre and MNLU V-C Prof Vijender Kumar along with senior officials after signing the Memorandum of Understanding.

Ravindra Thakre (IAS) and Director of VANAMATI, thanked MNLU, Nagpur and its Vice-Chancellor Professor Vijender Kumar for signing the MoU and helping them in their mission. He also emphasised that both, MNLU Nagpur and VANAMATI must jointly research for the benefit of farmers and society.

Prof Vijender Kumar assured the VANAMATI of full support and said that this academic relationship for dissemination of knowledge shall continue for long. He expressed his confidence that collaboration between these institutions in imparting teaching and training shall go a long way in shaping the society.

Justice (retd) R C Chavan, a former judge of Bombay High Court, who was also present on the occasion asked the students to explore the possibility of study and research in issues relating to farmers and agriculture, which has been unexplored so far. He assured the students, that agriculture arena is going to be corporate sector of tomorrow, which will fetch them enough money and hence they must consider working in this area seriously.

Senior officers of VANAMATI including Addl Director Sudhir Nannaware, Dr Kishore Waghmare, Dr Archana Kadu, Suwarna Pande, Sandip Khodwe, Milind Murhekar, Milind Tare, Seema Mundle and Prof. C Ramesh Kumar, Registrar, Dr VP Tiwari, Dr Himanshu Pandey, Dr Manish Yadav, Dr Ragini Khubalkar, Prof. Shreya Mishra, Prof. Sumit Malviya and all research scholars and LL.M students from MNLU, Nagpur were also present.